

YALE BEATS PRINCETON

Germans Claim Allies Checked On The Plains Of Monastir

BULL DOG WINS OVER TIGER BY SCORE 10-0

(By H. C. Hamilton, United Press Staff Correspondent)
Palmer Field, Princeton, N. J., Nov. 18.—The first touchdown of the year to cross Princeton's goal was scored this afternoon by Yale as the Blue tigers defeated on the Orange and Black by 10 to 0 score.

Hobby Baker, in an aeroplane, accompanied by another machine, did stunts over the field as the Yale students swarmed under Princeton's goal posts and started a parade over the field after the game. There was scarcely a hero of this afternoon's struggle, but Legore, Braden, Neville and Jacques, Yale backfield men, did excellent work.

PALMER STADIUM, Princeton, Nov. 18.—A clear sky and a slight northwest wind mixed in a perfect football day for the annual Yale-Princeton game here this afternoon.

Long before time for the teams to take the field, the enormous stadium was dotted with patches of black, orange and black, and blue.

At the north end of the stadium a white bull dog was leashed as the Princeton players trotted on the field at 1:15. He followed the Yale gang as they took the field fifteen minutes later. Yale took a slump when it became known that Quarterback Smith would not be able to play. He has been suffering from a severe cold and became worse today.

The line up: Princeton—Highley, I. C. McLean, I. T. Nourse, I. C. Gennert, C. Hogg, (captain), R. G. Laroche, R. T. Wilson, R. C. Eddy, G. B. Brown, R. H. Ames, I. H. Briggs, F. B.

Yale—Mosley, I. C. Gates, I. T. Black, (captain), I. G. Callahan, C. Fox, R. G. Baldrige, R. T. Comerford, R. C. Laroche, G. B. Neville, R. H. Legore, I. H. B. Jacques, F. B.

Officials—Referee, N. A. Tufts, Brown. Umpire, Carl Williams, Penna. Linesman, E. S. Land, Annapolis. Field Judge, David L. Fultz, Brown.

YALE WINS TOSS
Yale won the toss and chose to defend the north goal with the wind behind them.

Gennert kicked off 30 yards to Legore who ran back 15 yards. The ball was on Yale's 36 yard line.

Jacques went through left tackle. Neville got two yards. Laroche made it first down.

Legore punted to Princeton's 43 yard line. Driggs passed the ball 20 yards to Wilson who raced down the field to Yale's 27 yard line. Moore was thrown for a loss of one yard.

Moore made eight yards on two plays and Tibbott, Princeton's star drop-kicker, went in for Wilson.

Tibbott's attempt at a field goal from the 28 yard line was blocked and it was Princeton's ball on Yale's 30 yard line.

Tibbott tried another field goal from the 36 yard line but it was also blocked. Legore recovered for Yale and put the ball on Yale's 33 yard line. Fink replaced Tibbott.

Jacques gained three yards, a fumble lost five yards for Yale and Legore punted 45 yards. Eddy fumbled the ball and it was recovered by Mosley for Yale on Princeton's 34 yard line.

Balden, Yale's field goal artist, replaced Jacques.

He tried to drop kick Princeton's 44 yard line, but it was blocked and McLean record for Princeton. Driggs punted over the Yale goal line for a touch-down.

WAR APPROACHING A DECISIVE STAGE; DECISION RESTS WITH CAMPAIGN IN TRANSYLVANIA AND RUMANIA, SAY GERMAN EXPERTS

(By Carl W. Ackerman, United Press Staff Correspondent)
BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The war is approaching a decisive stage—and the decision will rest with the campaign in Transylvania and Rumania. Such is the expert military viewpoint. As summed up today by a well informed military authority, the situation is: "The triangular loss at Ancre does not affect the Somme battle as a whole. Viewing all the war theatres, the whole war has now reached a period of tension. The solution is drawing near. When this shall come depends upon the progress of the present fighting in the Rumanian passes. We are making progress there but the mountain difficulties are greater than in Serbia. Once General Falkenhayn crosses my guess is the decision will come. How long this will take we do not know—but one must depend and await coming development."

PRESIDENT TO ENTER THREE CORNERED CONTROVERSY

(By Robert J. Bender, United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—President Wilson today was preparing to personally enter the great three-cornered fight between labor, the railroads and the government in proposals for the prevention of strikes in this country. Monday he will confer with Judge Adamson, chairman of the house committee on Interstate Commerce as to the completion of the program he advanced at the last session of congress. Adamson says this program will be pushed through immediately when congress reconvenes in December and it may be found inadvisable even to wait the report of the joint congressional committee authorized to make searching inquiry into the entire railroad problem.

With railroads a unit combatting the constitutionality of the eight-hour law, with labor ready to fight proposals for settlement of industrial disputes by legislation and with members of congress widely divided on these questions the railroad problem threatens to seriously embarrass the smooth operation of legislative machinery at this session.

There are as yet four proposals in the president's program of strike settlement and prevention to be acted upon if he holds to his original program. These include:

Provision for enlargement and reorganization of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Approval by congress of consideration of increases when justified, in freight rates to meet such additional expenditures rendered necessary by adoption of the eight-hour day.

An amendment of the existing federal statute which provides for mediation, conciliation and arbitration of industrial controversies by adding a provision that in case present agencies fail a full public investigation of the merits of every such dispute shall be instituted and completed before a strike or lockout may be lawfully attempted.

Giving the president power, in case of military necessity, to take control of such rolling stock of the railroads as may be required for military use and granting him authority to draft into military service such train crews and administrative officials as circumstances require.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Legislation to prevent railroad strikes "pending a settlement of disputes between employers and employees" was recommended by the National Council of the United States chamber of commerce today. That the government take steps to make certain stabilization improvement and extension of transportation facilities also was recommended.

When she will prepare to leave is something that will not be discussed by Captain Koenig nor members of his crew. The Deutschland must remain in port until United States investigators have completed an investigation to the accident which resulted in the loss of the convoy and five of her crew on the start of the homeward trip yesterday.

Bryan spoke to 200 Indiana Democrats, who immediately after the address formed an organization to make the party dry in Indiana.

"The Democratic party cannot afford to be buried in a drunkard's grave, but that is what will happen unless we take a stand on the right side of the prohibition question," declared Bryan.

May Ask Legislature To Probe G. O. P. Fund

Columbus, O., Nov. 18.—Democratic state leaders today were planning to have the forthcoming Democratic legislature investigate the campaign fund of $372,351 spent by the Republican state executive committee.

Democratic State Chairman Finley made the announcement.

"The sworn statement of Charles H. Hatfield, chairman of the Republican state executive committee, showing total expenditures of $372,351, in the Ohio campaign, only bears out the almost daily charges I made during the campaign that the Republicans were spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to stem the Wilson tide in Ohio and turn the state Republican," said Finley.

"In asking the coming legislature to find out exactly where all this money went we will ask that the Democratic fund also be investigated."

"We Democrats spent a total of $57,000 and that was enough for all legitimate needs of the campaign, only bears out the al-

Woman Tells Of Love For The "Other Man"

Georgetown, O., Nov. 18.—Before a great throng in the court room here Mrs. Ethel Wahl continued today the story of her love for Leonard Sanders, liverman, of Mount Orab, who is on trial for the alleged assassination of Henry Wahl, Mrs. Wahl's husband.

Through her the prosecution is seeking to establish its claim that Sanders killed Wahl in order to get his wife.

Mrs. Wahl added details to her remarkable confession made late Friday when she testified:

That she had been in love with Sanders for two years.

That she made arrangements for meeting him by secret notes.

That Sanders frequently called on her at her home while her husband was away.

That always when she met him, Sanders had a revolver.

The Sanders threatened to shoot Wahl if he caught them.

That an old shoe in the yard of her home was the mail box in which she and Sanders left letters for each other.

That later they placed their letters under a stone beneath her kitchen window.

That he gave her a diamond ring for Christmas last year.

That in September of last year she made arrangements to leave with Sanders but changed her mind.

That she again planned to leave with Sanders towards the last of May, 1916, a short time before Wahl was murdered, but again changed her mind.

That on the Wednesday before the killing of Wahl, Sanders wrote her a letter chiding her and saying that he didn't think she would turn him down.

"Efficiency" the Watchword

"Safety First" the Slogan

Go where you will, travel where you may and "Efficiency" is demanded. Then comes "Safety First" a slogan that has been adopted with religious forethought.

"Efficiency" has ever characterized this establishment—it starts with the raw material and sticks close until the finished product steps forth.

"Safety First" should be the motto of men who care how their clothes look. Too many men spoil their appearance by getting inside a suit of clothes that were made for a dummy—a hand-me-down—that may look well for a day or week and then begin to show its weak points.

We claim to build the best hand made clothes in this section of the state, every suit or overcoat being tailored under our personal supervision by mechanics who know how a thing should be correctly done. We see to it that the best of trimmings and the best of workmanship go hand in hand with our pure woolsens. When a man wears one of our hand built suits or overcoats he can step forth knowing that he is ready for the style parade and that his place is in the first division.

We like to make particular men their clothes—we appreciate building garments for men who are particular as to their looks when dressed up. And, candidly, you'll be well pleased with our modest prices. We can fit any figure and suit every purse. Don't forget to look us up for your next suit or overcoat—anyone can direct you to our establishment.

P. H. S. WELLSTON GAME ENDS IN A BIG WRANGLE

On a decision of Umpire Robert Padan, Portsmouth high school's football warriors claim Saturday afternoon's game with Wellston by the score of 12 to 6. Wellston left the field before the end of the game and immediately after they had made what they called a touchdown and kicked goal, making the score 13 to 12. Protest will be made to the Southern Ohio High School Athletic Association, who will decide who is the winner.

The game was one of continued quarrels. Both teams scored in the first quarter. P. H. S. made the first touchdown in the first two minutes of play, a fumble by Wellston being responsible. Captain Pat Shoemaker recovered the ball and Quinn plunged through the line for the touchdown. Wellston made a forward pass and Lambert bucked the line for their score. In the last quarter Wellston got the ball to the ten yard line. A pass was made to Harris who caught the ball outside of the field back of the goal. Referee Pope declared the touchdown was legal and after kicking goal Wellston left the field, ten minutes before time for the game to be over. The game can also be forfeited to P. H. S. on account of Wellston leaving the field.

P. H. S. showed up well. Shoemaker, Lett, Quinn and Anderson played a great game, Anderson pulling off another feature run. Higgins blocked a Wellston punt behind the goal and Anderson fell on the oval, giving Portsmouth her second touchdown. V. Pope, fullback, made big gains for Wellston. The line-ups: P. H. S. The New "Reo the Fifth"

The Incomparable Four

F. O. B. Lansing, Mich.

What a Marvelous Automobile, Is This New Reo the Fifth!

JUST CONSIDER what it means to have endured the onslaughts of competition for eight seasons and to be still the leader in its price and capacity class.

FOR, WE SUBMIT that if ratio of demand to supply be a criterion, then Reo the Fifth must be the most popular car among buyers—therefore the leader.

AND THAT POPULARITY is not—cannot be—the result of mushroom development or of advertising inspiration. Not for eight years! For a short time, yes—but not for so long.

SUCH A STANDING can be the result only of quality in the product and of long years of consistent, satisfactory service.

WHEN YOU CONSIDER how long Reo the Fifth has enjoyed its supremacy—since its very inception—the inevitable conclusion is that this model must have been many years ahead of its time in order to be so far ahead now.

AT LEAST A DECADE in advance of its time in design and in mechanical excellence, if we are to judge by the application of the immutable law of competition in which only the fittest can and does survive.

REO THE FIFTH must have been—must still be—the fittest.

FITTEST FROM THE STANDPOINT of the buyer, the user. In "passenger miles per dollar," first cost and the cost of upkeep, both considered, Reo the Fifth has proved its fitness through the years.

EACH YEAR WE OURSELVES HAVE wondered whether some other might bring out a car—that would be better in some essential.

AND EACH YEAR we have found Reo the Fifth to be stronger in public esteem and to enjoy a greater demand than ever before.

NEVER FROM THE DAY THE FIRST REO left the factory has it been possible to make enough cars to supply all who wanted Reos; and, despite a factory growth that was as rapid as we felt was healthy and safe (50 per cent. in the last year over the previous one, and proportionately in years past); yet the disparity between supply and demand has grown constantly greater.

IT'S A WONDERFUL STORY—the history of Reo the Fifth. And from our standpoint, a most gratifying.

FOR WHEN THE AIM has been to build, not the most but the best automobiles; and when the evidence of the success of the plan is so clear as that over-demand for the Reo product—it is a matter of gratitude, of exultation to us Reo folk.

REO THE FIFTH WAS RIGHT in the fundamentals of design from the beginning. We have, from day to day refined and improved it in details and applied to its making all that science and improved methods and machine tools have made possible.

ACCESSIBILITY was the keynote of the design—accuracy in machining to the making.

LOW UPKEEP COST has been the prime result. Owners will tell you stories of low operation and maintenance cost; of freedom from the little as well as the big troubles that one who has not owned a Reo can hardly credit.

SO THE NET RESULT of that Good Intent—that sincere effort to make a good product—has come in the form of a world-wide recognition of Reo the Fifth, at $875, as "The Gold Standard of Values."

Mrs. L. H. Austin of 642 1/2 Second street, has received word of a niece, Louise, six-year-old daughter of J. C. York, getting perhaps fatally burned at their home in Huntington, W. Va. Thursday.

The accident occurred just after the mother had gone downstairs to prepare breakfast. The little girl's gown ignited from an open stove in the bed room. Her father is foreman of the composing room at the Herald-Dispatch office.

Carl N. Hansen believes that William Rockwell the alleged robber caught by the police, is the same who boldly entered his home at No. 1514 Fifth street about dusk Thursday evening.

For Full Figures

Beauty is not a question of size! Whether your weight is 108 or 130 makes little difference as to the appearance of your figure. But if your weight is nearer the latter than the former, it does require careful consideration of your corset.

You can gain support, but not beauty with a heavy corset of much boning and lacing—but such is not necessary. A cushion-ense corset skillfully designed with the minimum amount of boning rightly placed will mold your figure fashionably, fit with absolute comfort, and give the support so necessary for the full figure.

You will learn this if you wear one of our new models for full figures at Warner's Rust-Proof Corsets Corset Shop and Corset Fitting Room Second Floor

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, friends, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 80.

best to wait a few years before you get married, do as they say. And listen, don't say "I haven't seen," it isn't good English; and do not capitalize every other word when you write a letter. You evidently did not learn much when you went to school or you would know these things.

Dear Miss Wise.—My boy friend and I were coming home from a dance one night about midnight. As we were walking along we found a horseshoe with a curved nail. The nail was broken. Please tell me what this is a sign of. WEST SIDE KID.

It's a sign some horse is minus a perfectly good shoe.

Dear Miss Wise.—An acquaintance in a distant city is to be married. I have received an invitation. Not knowing the groom-to-be, I wish to know if I should send a present. In what way should I address the present?

THANK YOU.
Presents are sent, whether you know the groom or not. If you care to send a present it will not be necessary to know the man. Presents are always addressed to the bride, at her home, before the wedding.

Dear Miss Wise.—Could you please explain the meaning of first and second mortgage?

JAKE.
First and second mortgages are mortgages placed on the same property. The first mortgage is the note held by a person who has loaned money on the property as security. If money is borrowed for a second time, with the same property as security, the note is a second mortgage. A second mortgage is not often given, unless the amount of the first one is very small.

Dear Dolly.—I have been married eight years and have three children. My husband does not love me and calls me names. He provides for us very well. He always brings his money home to me, and does not spend it foolishly, but he quarrels quite often. He says that the children are all that keep him with me. I have been thinking of leaving him, but

Dear Miss Wise.—What is the proper course to follow when one has received the announcement of a birth?

HAZEL.
Upon receiving such an announcement you should call to inquire after the health of the mother and child and leave your cards. If distance prevents you from calling, you should post your card to the mother with the words "heartily congratulations," written in pencil above the name. Or, instead of the cards you can write a note of congratulation to the mother.

Dear Miss Wise.—We are two girls seventeen years old. We are often asked by young men to go to dances and theaters, but we always have to refuse because we are not old enough. Our mother is very strict with us and we are not even allowed to attend a moving picture show. Don't you think we girls are old enough to have a little time of our own to do with as we please? Wherever we go our mother wants to go.

WORRIED WIFE.
Men are not disposed to value very highly that which they may have without the least effort, or which is thrust upon them. Be a little more independent. A little indifference will do more than all the begging in the world. He evidently cares for you or he would not provide so liberally. Perhaps it is his nature to be cold and indifferent. Let him go his way and pretend that you do not care for a while and see what happens. For the sake of the children you should not leave him. You would make it harder for yourself and the babies if you left. Try to think that your lot is much better than that of hundreds of women whose husbands abuse them and refuse to give them money.

LONELY KIDS.
A girl of seventeen is not old enough to show good judgment in the things she does. If your mother does not feel that you should go with boys, she is right. Wait until you are a little older and in the meantime try to show her that you are worthy of being trusted and she will allow you to have a good time in your own way. If your way is good, perhaps you have given your mother reason to think you cannot be trusted with boys. She is only looking out for what she considers your own good.

A Bride-To-Be.—You cannot get married until you are 18 so you might as well content yourself going to school for at least five years. What you need is a good spanking.

"I was so weak and nervous at times I thought I must die soon. My appetite was gone and it was with the greatest effort that I lived at all."

"And I heartily recommend it to all weak, nervous people. I could neither eat nor sleep before taking it. I am so thankful for what Nerv-Worth has done for me. All who doubt this can call on me at 1964 Madison avenue, West Huntington."

The far-famed Apache Dance, by Maurice, the internationally famous dancer, which was introduced to American popular dancer, will be one of the dances which Maurice and Florence Walton will perform on the screen when they make their photoplay debut in the Famous Players-Paramount picture, "The Quest of Life." In addition to this famous dance, the popular dancers will introduce other 'delightful numbers—some of which have never been seen on the stage. But that is not all—there is a big dramatic theme and no little spectacular work in "The Quest of Life" which is the feature at the Lyric next week on Tuesday.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in Metro's Magnificent Eight Reel Production, Columbia, Friday and Saturday.

In the elaborate screen production of "Romeo and Juliet," in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne portray the roles of the immortal lovers, these two famous stars are supported by the most notable cast ever assembled for a motion picture. There are scores of prominent artists of both the stage and screen, and the long roster includes a Booth, a Sothern, a Mantell, a Kemble and a Davenport, names that represent the greatest histrionic families of this and a past generation.
The principals in this eight-reel picturization of Shakespeare's immortal romantic drama are all leading dramatic actors and actresses with world-wide reputations. Many of them have starred in Shakespearean parts, and nearly every member of the cast has had a classical training. More than six hundred persons were used in the production, and no expense has been spared to make it the most notable offering that lovers of the silent drama have yet seen.

Irene Fenwick in "A Child of Destiny," Columbia Tuesday
Irene Fenwick, the gifted and charming dramatic artist, who has been starred in several notable Broadway stage productions and recently went into motion pictures, will be seen on the screen here at the Columbus next Tuesday in "The Child of Destiny," a five part Metro-Columbia wonderplay. This will mark Miss Fenwick's debut on the Metro program, and the vehicle provided for her is an exceptionally strong one. There are many striking contrasts, and Miss Fenwick is supported by an unusually strong cast.

At The Exhibit
Taking for their theme a delicate subject, the topic of the present day, and deftly moulding that subject so that no man may feel offense in the teaching, the Lubin Company have produced a five reel picture dealing with the question of the hyphenated American and unpreparedness, "The Nation's Peril." The picture records vivid and thrilling scenes of a ship being sunk by actual shell fire of the United States Atlantic fleet; nine explosions, artillery engagements; thousands of sailors, soldiers and marines, a head-on train collision; the burning of an entire town and in addition the personalities of Secretary Daniels, Admirals Winslow and Fletcher and all the officers of the Atlantic fleet, the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, and of the Naval Training Station.

Orini Hawley and Earl Melcalfe play the leading roles in this smashing war play.

Francis Bushman at Arcana Theater Tonight
Manager J. F. Potts, of the Arcana theater, who has a happy faculty of caring for the wants of his patrons, has eclipsed all efforts in tonight's program, for he has a play that will feature Francis X. Bushman and Bryant Washburn, two of the greatest favorites ever thrown on canvas. These two actors will be seen at their best in "The Elder Brother," a play that is chock full of emotion and sensationalism that it is hard to control one's self. In addition to this big feature Manager Potts will show a three-reel drama, entitled "Husks of Love," a powerful play from every viewpoint. The big program will close with a comedy, entitled, "The Bankruptcy of Boggs," a screen.

Three Reel Drama at Temple Theater Tonight
Saturday night patrons of the Temple Theater can rest assured of a rare treat tonight, for Manager Harold Potts has provided a program that will please the most exacting. First and foremost will be a three reel heart interest drama, entitled, "Lettitia," a Vitagraph production, that has created much interest wherever shown. This will be followed by a rip-roaring comedy, entitled, "A Dollar Down." The spectacular program will be brought to a close with the rendition of a strong drama, "Tender-Hearted Boy." Come to the Temple tonight if you want to see the biggest and best show in the city.

Woman Acts Strangely, Is Being Held Here

Mrs. Alice Brahm, aged 42, wife of King's Mills, Ohio, were the name, age and address given by a neatly dressed but strangely acting woman taken into police custody Friday at midnight for safekeeping.
The woman's peculiar actions at the Y. W. C. A. building where she had applied for lodging had caused persons there to summon police. It appeared that she had first engaged accommodations at a down town hotel but after retiring thought she heard noises and dressing herself left the building, going to the "Y." She had $52 in money and two B. & O. baggage checks for a couple of trunks from Jackson to Portsmouth.

Big Crowd Expected

The woman was taken before Probate Judge T. C. Beatty Saturday morning. It soon developed that she believed herself pursued by Pure Food officers and that she had traveled from Cincinnati to fronton thence to Coalton and Portsmouth to escape them and visit imaginary relatives.
The judge has ordered the woman given a few days' rest at the county jail and meanwhile will communicate with her husband, who is said to be employed in a munitions plant at King's Mills.

Judging from the interest being displayed by the members of the First Christian church bible school, a huge attendance is looked for on tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Every class has vied to increase its attendance by not less than 25 per cent. and the first test will come tomorrow. The Loyal Men declare they will go away beyond the 100 mark and the Loyal Daughters are just as insistent they will keep pace with the horrid men. So come tomorrow and see who wins the prediction race. The Loyal Boreans are counting on 85 being present and they generally make good on any proposition. Special music tomorrow and a general good time promised every person who is present. Boys and girls' rally day next Sunday.
Rev. Oakley announces he will speak on the subject "A Demonstration" at 10:30 while in the evening his subject will be "The Light of the World." Everybody welcome.

Shamrocks Play Ashland In Millbrook Sunday Afternoon

Portsmouth football fans will be given a chance to see two of the fastest football aggregations in this part of the country in battle Sunday afternoon at Millbrook park when the Shamrocks tackle the fast Ashland, Ky., eleven. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Just a glance at the names of the players will prove to you that the local team will be the best independent team that ever appeared on Millbrook ground. James Lynn and Gilbert Kendall, the latter a graduate of Ohio University will be in the backfield which means that Ashland will have to send a strong team against the locals if they intend to make any kind of a showing. The following players are urged to report for practice Sunday morning at the Sixteenth street gridiron: James Lynn, Gilbert Kendall, R. Padan, R. Nutter, R. Mathews, D. Gardner, N. Sutton, N. Duewell, D. Moister, J. Shoemaker, J. Sahr, Scotty, L. Wilson, O. Montgomery, E. Shump. Every player should be out to practice.

IT IS NO LONGER "HURRY UP YOST"

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 18.—"Hurry Up" Yost, coach of the Michigan football squad, finally has failed to live up to his nickname. Yost recently was watching the first eleven in practice. Quarterback Sparks was tearing through his signals. "He hurries his team too much," shouted Yost, and then he told Sparks to ease up a bit. "You can't stam down the field the way you could in the old game," said the Michigan football wizard. "With 10 yards to gain you have to take your time." And so, the Yost machine, won in 1930, received its first setback.

Have Game For Sunday

On the Sixteenth street gridiron Sunday afternoon, Cleveland's Stars will play the Rosemont Road Country Cousins their second game of the season. Last Sunday the Stars came down to defeat by the score of 12 to 0 but the Stars expect to "turn the tables" on the husky farmer kids Sunday. The game will start at 2:30.

Cubs Are Banking On "Pickles" Dillhoefer

Chicago, Nov. 18.—President Weegman of the Cubs who, some time ago, asserted that a good catcher would go a long way to brace up the Bruins, thinks he has discovered another Ray Schalk in William Dillhoefer, who was drafted from Milwaukee. The first part of his surname being Dill, it is only natural that he is known to Milwaukee fans as "Pickles."

"Pickles" is built much along the same lines as is Schalk and his actions on the field also has a similar touch. His height is 5 feet 8, which places the Brewer to a slightly greater stature than Ray. He weighs 155 pounds and bats and throws right-handed. In the American Association he hit for a total of .292 and, among other things which went into the record, were nine stolen bases. "I can hardly wait for the spring training trip to see the youngster in action," said Mr. Weegman. "I have been told many times by good judges of ball players that 'Pickles' is a coming star. I have every reason to believe that he will be just as popular as Ray Schalk."

MAY ENTER REAL ESTATE GAME

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Jess Willard, the heavyweight champion, is considering entering the real estate business in Chicago, according to information received by his associates. His contract with a circus has expired and he plans to motor from Port Worth, Tex., to Chicago, arriving here about Nov. 27. He is reported to be much heavier than when he started out with the circus. He weighs in the neighborhood of 275 pounds, it is said.

BATTERY MEN GET EARLY START

Cleveland, Battery men of the Cleveland American league club will be sent to the spring training camp at New Orleans at least ten days in advance of the other players, according to plans announced by Manager Lee Fohl.

"We got the jump on the other clubs last spring because our pitchers were read and having accidents, I propose to have them in as good shape next April," Fohl explained.

Eleven pitchers and three catchers will form the advance squad of the club, which is to report about Feb. 20. The men are Morton, Goveleskie, Hebe, Boehling, Counce, Gould, Laubelt, Smith, Pettit, Klepper and Penner, pitchers; O'Neill, Daly and De Berry, catchers.

To Winter In Cincinnati

Christopher Mathewson sends word to Redland that he will not reach there before December 1. Motley is to join the colony of Cincinnati players "looting their shirt" in the Queen City this winter. Grub, Chase, Roush and Griffith are already there.

Ivories And Specials Winners At Bowling

The Ivory Knobs and Cement Specials triumphed over the Rexalls and Corn Shuckers at the Play House alleys, last night. At that the defeated teams won one out of three and this was much consolation—like taking a drink of elderberry wine after a dose of castor oil. The Ivories won by four pins from the Rexalls in the first game on alleys 2 and 3 and this so enraged the Wursters that they came back and whipped the waxy out of the Knobs in the sandwich game. The Ivories pulled themselves together in the last spasm, thanks to the voice encouragement of Dr. Perry Winkler Young, whose scores would not indicate he was much of a bowler.

The Cement Specials won the first two games from the Corn Shuckers with comparative ease and skill. But they reckoned without their host, for the Corn Shuckers went like a cannon ball through dead ironwoods in the last game and before the Specials could recover they were sent to the dump of defeat.

"P. Johnson of the Corn Shuckers was the big noise of the evening although Lee Sheltun made a terrible racket in the last game. The scores:

Has Boost For Klepper

Cleveland, Nov. 18.—Manager Lee Fohl of the Cleveland Americans is of the opinion that Pitcher Edward Klepper will be much more efficient next season for the reason that Klepper has undergone an operation for the removal of his tonsils.

"Klepper's throat bothered him last season," Fohl said, "and I am certain that if he had submitted to an operation last spring he would have been a different pitcher."

Dunn Will Make Trade

Cleveland, Nov. 18.—President Dunn of the Cleveland Americans has announced that he has one or two possible trades in view and that he also hopes to buy at least one young outfielder.

To Stay In Own Class

Now Battling Levinsky tells us he is going to stay in the light heavyweight class and is not going after the heavies. Oh, very well, Mr. Levinsky. It is so sweet of him to tell us.

New York, Nov. 18.—Bob Moha, the Milwaukee "cav" man, was almost caviled last night when he met Billy Mike, the St. Paul light heavyweight. Mike hit Moha with everything but the bucket and his opponent was in a bad way long before the bell ended the melee.

Strong On Offensive

George Daley, New York World football expert, in commenting upon the late defeat of Princeton by Harvard asserted: "There is one thing sure. The Princeton team was much better equipped with offensive weapons than in any previous game this year or in any game for that matter in the past four years. This is likely to be emphasized against Yale Saturday."

Detroit To Get Boxing?

Detroit, Nov. 18.—Detroit may have a boxing club this winter. Efforts are being made to obtain official sanction for a series of shows. Gov. Ferris backed two or three attempts to remove the pugilistic lid in Detroit in the past two years.

SUNDAY SCHOOL
Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 19, 1916.
THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.
Text of the Lesson, Acts xxviii, 11-31.
Memory Verses, 30, 31—Golden Text, Rom. 1, 16—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.
After carrying three months at Malta another ship from Alexandria, which had wintered in the Isle, was sailing for Italy, and on that they departed and reached Italy in safety, remaining three days at Syracuse and seven days at Patroli on the way. No doubt the gospel was preached at both places, but at the latter place there were believers, and the fellowship must have been very helpful to all. It would be a great event for the brethren at Patroli to hear from those who had so recently come from Jerusalem, and to hear Paul tell of his missionary tours and rehearse all that God had done by him and all that he had suffered on his tours at Jerusalem must have thrilled an assembly of believers and inspired them with greater zeal for God and his kingdom.
The brethren at Rome, having heard of Paul's arrival in Italy, came out to meet him as far as Appia forum and the three taverns, and, having welcomed him and encouraged him, they returned to Rome together. I sometimes use this incident as suggestively illustrative of our meeting the Lord in the air and returning with Him when He shall come to set up His kingdom. Just the meeting and returning—I have no other thought of any analogy in the incident (verses 11-15). Another handful of purpose seems to have come to Paul's way in his being allowed to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him (verse 16). That soldier must have learned much of Jesus Christ, for as Paul talked to him privately it was like pouring water into a bottle rather than throwing it at a lot of bottles. Our Lord spoke more than once to audiences of one, as in the case of Nicodemus and the woman of Samaria. Having called the chief of the Jews together, Paul explained to them why he had come to Rome as a prisoner, adding, "For the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain" (verses 17-20). There is only one person who is called the hope of Israel or the hope of the church, only one in whom there is any hope for either (Jer. xiv, 8; xlv, 13; Joel iii, 16; 1 Tim. i, 1). His coming for us is our blessed hope, and His coming with us in glory will prove Him to be the hope and Saviour of Israel as a nation (Tit. ii, 13; Isa. xxi, 8; Zech. xii, 10; xlii, 1). The brethren at Rome said that they had never heard anything against Paul, but they would like to hear what he thought of this sect that was every where spoken against. A day having been appointed, many came to his lodging, to whom he reasoned and expounded the Scriptures of Moses and the prophets concerning Jesus and the kingdom of God, from morning till evening (verses 21-23).
As they listened to him some believed. They could not agree and had much reasoning among themselves, which led Paul to turn to the gentiles with the good news, quoting to the Jews what the Holy Spirit had said by Isaiah concerning them hundreds of years before in what we call chapter vi. These sayings of the Spirit through Isaiah concerning Israel's blindness and hardness of heart are quoted in Matt. xiii, 14, 15; John xii, 38, 40; Rom. xi, 8, as well as in our lesson. Jeremiah and Ezekiel were both told that they must expect opposition and that their message would not be received (Jer. i, 17, 19; Ezek. ii and iii, 10, 11, 12). The apostles also were told that they were sent out as sheep in the midst of wolves and might expect to be hated, put out of the synagogue and killed (Matt. x, 30-32; John xv, 19-21; xvi, 1-3). The most that we can aim to do in this age is by all means to save some (1 Cor. ix, 22), for we are nowhere taught that the world will ever be won to Christ until Israel shall have received him at his coming in glory, and then when the glory of the Lord shall have risen upon Israel and shall be seen upon her the nations shall come to her light and kings to the brightness of her rising.
Paul continued to preach the kingdom of God and teach those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ for two whole years to all who came to him in his own hired house. There were many believers, even in Caesar's household, and his bonds for Christ were manifest at Caesar's court as well as elsewhere, and many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by his bonds, were much more bold to speak the word without fear (Phil. i, 13, 14; margin; iv, 22). This book of the Acts begins with the Lord Jesus speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God during the forty days between His resurrection and ascension (Acts i, 3) and ends with the record of Paul's two years' testimony at Rome concerning the same great topic. In connection with our Lord's teaching after He rose from the dead, we need to notice what He talked about on the way to Emmaus and also that same evening in Jerusalem (Luke xxiv, 27-44) and observe that both He and Paul used the same textbook, the Quality is the hallmark of Chevrolet motor cars. Neither completeness nor refinement is sacrificed to make the selling prices—low as they are. There is no need of changes and additional price—supplementary springs, special wheels, hoods, radiators, etc.—to give a Chevrolet the appearance, comfort, and performance abilities of a real automobile.

These qualities are bred in the Chevrolet—conceived in its design, carried out in its construction; and proven by its performance in the service of over sixty-five thousand satisfied owners.

Chevrolet owners experience a real pride of ownership. Chevrolet quality cars are built in two chassis models, the "Four-Ninety," price $490, equipped, electric starting and lighting, and the "Baby Grand," a large, powerful touring car, at $750. These prices are F. O. B. Flint, Mich.

lodging, to whom he reasoned and expounded the Scriptures of Moses and the prophets concerning Jesus and the kingdom of God, from morning till evening (verses 21-23).
As they listened to him some believed. They could not agree and had much reasoning among themselves, which led Paul to turn to the gentiles with the good news, quoting to the Jews what the Holy Spirit had said by Isaiah concerning them hundreds of years before in what we call chapter vi. These sayings of the Spirit through Isaiah concerning Israel's blindness and hardness of heart are quoted in Matt. xiii, 14, 15; John xii, 38, 40; Rom. xi, 8, as well as in our lesson. Jeremiah and Ezekiel were both told that they must expect opposition and that their message would not be received (Jer. i, 17, 19; Ezek. ii and iii, 10, 11, 12). The apostles also were told that they were sent out as sheep in the midst of wolves and might expect to be hated, put out of the synagogue and killed (Matt. x, 30-32; John xv, 19-21; xvi, 1-3). The most that we can aim to do in this age is by all means to save some (1 Cor. ix, 22), for we are nowhere taught that the world will ever be won to Christ until Israel shall have received him at his coming in glory, and then when the glory of the Lord shall have risen upon Israel and shall be seen upon her the nations shall come to her light and kings to the brightness of her rising.
Paul continued to preach the kingdom of God and teach those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ for two whole years to all who came to him in his own hired house. There were many believers, even in Caesar's household, and his bonds for Christ were manifest at Caesar's court as well as elsewhere, and many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by his bonds, were much more bold to speak the word without fear (Phil. i, 13, 14; margin; iv, 22). This book of the Acts begins with the Lord Jesus speaking of the things pertaining to the kingdom of God during the forty days between His resurrection and ascension (Acts i, 3) and ends with the record of Paul's two years' testimony at Rome concerning the same great topic. In connection with our Lord's teaching after He rose from the dead, we need to notice what He talked about on the way to Emmaus and also that same evening in Jerusalem (Luke xxiv, 27-44) and observe that both He and Paul used the same textbook, the

Police Believe That Man Under Arrest Is Daring Robber

Had Part Of Booty In His Possession

N. & W. TO SPEND $1,000,000 ON EQUIPMENT

William Rockwell, alias Harry Evans, who was arrested by Police Chief Henry Clark Friday afternoon in connection with the whole sale robberies in the Hilltop district, will be given a hearing some time Monday on a charge of house-breaking.

The police officials feel positive that in Rockwell they have the right man. The two watches found on him when arrested were identified Friday evening, one of them belonging to Charles Quickel whose home at 1114 Offshore street, was among those robbed and the other to Dan T. Clark, a roomer at the Barney O'Connor home on Vinton avenue.

Rockwell claims to have purchased the watches but he offered no explanation as to how he came into possession of the overcoat and undercoat he was wearing at the time of his arrest, both of which are the property of Charles Sampson, a steel plant clerk, whose mother's home at 1106 Offshore street, was also robbed.

The coat which the robber discarded at the Sampson home in exchange for that of Charles Sampson's was identified Friday evening by George Jordan as the one taken from his home at 1411 McConnell avenue the night it was robbed, November 6. It showed considerable wear, thought Mr. Jordan. The shoes the robber left behind at the Connor home were also identified by Mr. Jordan as his own. The robber who visited his home had taken the precaution to remove his own shoes before entering the home, leaving them on the ground directly underneath the library window which he had raised. More money was secured by the robber at the Jordan home than at any of the homes visited, the sum amounting to $26.

Mr. Jordan has been investigating his own robbery and writing to the clothing firm whose name was found inside a coat the robber left behind at his home found out that the coat had been sold to a Seaman, Ohio, merchant. Mr. Jordan wrote to this merchant and received word from him that several months ago he had presented the coat to a man who appeared at his home in a ragged condition and begging for something to eat, claiming he had been assaulted and robbed aboard an N. & W. freight

Nearly a million dollars will be spent by the Norfolk & Western Railway in the purchase of fifty new passenger, baggage and mail cars, for which the N. & W. has let a contract to the Harlan and Hollingsworth Corporation of Wilmington, Delaware. It is estimated unofficially that the cars will cost on an average of $18,000 each it was learned Saturday.

The contract calls for the following new cars: Twenty-two passenger cars. Five combination passenger and baggage cars. Thirteen baggage and express cars.

Ten baggage and mail cars. These cars will be all-steel, 70 feet each in length, with six-wheel trucks. Assuming that the cars will cost about $18,000 each, a conservative estimate, calculation shows the total to be $900,000.

The passenger cars will, of course, cost more, and the baggage cars less, than $18,000 apiece. It is thought that some of the passenger coaches will cost about $27,000 each, so that the total expenditure will be little short of the million mark.

The twentieth annual report of the Norfolk and Western for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1916, says that "the new equipment received during the year" contained ten passenger, twelve baggage and express, and two mail cars.

Corporation calls for twice as many cars as are listed under the new equipment received last year. The time for the delivery of these cars is uncertain. Fluctuations in prices of material and shortage of some supplies make the time of delivery indefinite.

Rockwell is believed to be a dope fiend and once officers reached the city prison with him Friday afternoon dared them to kill him, exclaiming repeatedly "I want one of you to kill me." He was locked up in a cell.

Chief Clark had a most exciting and strenuous time in effecting Rockwell's capture. He was moving about the East End on a lookout for suspicious characters and reaching the corner of Gallia and Prospect streets was surprised to find Rockwell in the company of G. F. Drennan. The latter up until a few days ago was employed as a special policeman at the Whitaker-Glossner company plant but following his arrest on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct had lost his job.

Rockwell who had been arrested Monday for begging on the streets and was fined $10 in police court Tuesday and put to work on the streets only to escape soon after, was warned by the chief that he had better get out of the city and stay out.

Rockwell started up Gallia the chief stopping to talk with Drennan of whom he inquired if the other man had any money. Drennan told him that Rockwell did not seem to have any money but that he had a watch which he seemed anxious to dispose of. It instantly flashed through the chief's mind that he might be the very man wanted. He accordingly started after him but Rockwell had by this time gained a square lead on him. A long N. & W. freight train a moment later blocked the Gallia street crossing and by the time the chief reached the other side his man was nowhere to be seen. The chief then made the rounds of East End saloons in search of him but without result. He then boarded a street car for East Portsmouth and after making diligent inquiries there got on a returning car. He was just inquiring of the conductor if he had seen a passenger of that description on his car when in looking out a side window he saw two men standing on the railroad tracks at Henry Hossman's plant. The chief hurriedly alighted but as he approached the plant the man wearing an overcoat started on a dead run east on the tracks. A spirited foot-race ensued occasionally interrupted by freight trains moving east and west underneath which the man dodged while the chief climbed one box car after another. It was not until almost Norfolk street that he came upon his man. The fellow seemed to submit until after the chief had finished searching and started with him. He balked on going any further but the chief summoned some railroad men to his assistance. They were now standing in front of a restaurant on Norfolk street surrounded by railroad men. Suddenly this group spread apart and the man made one leap and bolted down the street, disappearing through an alley and into a stable. When located he was just in the act of picking up a brick. Chief Clark now concluded it was time to take drastic action and he brought his "black-jack" into play, taking all further fight out of him.

It developed upon reaching police headquarters with the prisoner that he was the same person Officer Dobbins had seen about Billy Frederick's cafe on Chillicothe street Thursday afternoon and also the same man whom Patrolmen Milen and Osborn had chased and the one Milen had fired upon a couple of times Thursday night.

It seems that when Sergeant Pete Price received word of a man having entered Rev. M. Bridwell's home early Thursday evening he promptly detailed Milen to patrol the vicinity in plain clothes. When the call was received to the Quickel home two squares away on the same street some time after midnight Officers Flowers and Beaumont were rushed to the scene. Mrs. Quickel who had seen the robber crawling on all fours in her bed room furnished a good description of him. Among others she said he wore a dark suit of clothes. Officer Osborn was then also ordered for plain clothes duty. They remained in that locality for some time. Between 2 and 3 o'clock the robber visited the Sampson home, two doors away from the Quickel home and there he changed clothes, exchanging his own for Charles Sampson's light suit hat and light overcoat. The Sampson boys reached the street in time to see the robber run down Twelfth street. He took through an alley over to Tenth street, walking west towards the N. & W. depot. Officers Milen and Osborn were standing near the old freight depot as he came along. Milen wanted to stop him but Osborn called attention to his light hat and coat, saying evidently he was not the man wanted. They therefore permitted him to pass on out Waller street undisturbed. A moment later in talking to headquarters they reported having noticed the man pass, describing him. "Why, he is the man we want," said Price. Milen started in pursuit and was fast approaching the fellow near Sixteenth street when the man broke into a run across a commons there to the railroad tracks. He pursued him through the Black Diamond brick yards back across Findlay and Waller streets and although quite a distance behind him fired two shots at him. He fired two more at him as he turned down an alley between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. The man retraced his steps towards the railroad tracks up Seventeenth street hill where Milen lost him. "Shortly" Sheets, night watchman for the A. P. Miller Construction company, which firm is building the new Hill Top sanitary sewer system, reported having seen a man running east towards the cemetery like a "shot out of a cannon."

At the Sampson home the robber had nerve enough to talk to the mistress of the household. Mrs. Sampson was awakened by a hand feeling about her pillow. She gave one loud scream then regaining her composure asked: "Is that you Charles?" meaning one of her sons. "Be still or you will wake the family," coolly said the robber, who then slowly walked from the bed room into the hall, unlocked the front door and hurried from the veranda.

Rockwell was first arrested in Portsmouth on January 13, 1916. He was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail under the name of Harry Evans for stealing a suit case from the N. & W. depot belonging to Sheridan Cox, a Davis Station youth. On March 31 he was arrested for vagrancy and fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Cincinnati workhouse. After spending several weeks there he escaped. The night following his escape he called at the home of Patrolman William Osborn, this city, and begged for something to eat. Osborn invited him inside then notified police headquarters. The following day word was received from Cincinnati that he had escaped and he was sent back. He was just released from the workhouse a few weeks ago after serving out his original sentence and the one imposed for escaping.

FARMERS VICTIMS OF A ROBBER GANG

Farmers living along the Scioto valley between Portsmouth and the Pike county line are aroused over the number of petty robberies that have been made within the past several weeks.

Corn, hogs, chickens, log chains and many other things of value have been taken by the band or bands that have been operating.

Saturday morning Prosecuting Attorney Joseph T. Micklethwait was furnished with a list of names who are suspected of being connected with a gang that is operating in the northern part of the county. A special detective will be sent to that territory to collect evidence against them and arrests will probably follow.

It is understood that a gang has been organized and is operating under a secret name. The places of meeting are changed each day and the raids are made at night mainly.

Night before last this gang took an iron bar and broke the windows at the Coburn camp, Caldwell farm, near Wakefield and took everything that could be carried without trouble. Fishing tackle, tobacco, knives and forks, dishes, stools, hammocks, etc.

A few days ago they visited the Scioto Valley stock farm, went into the stock yard, killed several big fat hogs, slaughtered them and carried the fresh meat away.

A similar raid was made on the George Appel farm, near Clifford. Dr. J. N. Thomas, near Lucasville, has had several hogs go the same way. Pigs are also carried away.

Corn is reported having been taken out of the field and several report that chickens have been stolen.

Information received by the authorities indicate that the fresh meat that has been taken is being sold at the various construction camps along the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad.

A well known detective from Roanoke, Va., was with the prosecutor at the time the robberies were reported. He stated that there was more petty thieving going on throughout the country now, than had been reported for several weeks.

By German calculation the new kingdom of Poland is able to raise an army of 600,000 men. If it should be put into the field it will not fight in the east, as there are many Poles in the Russian army, but in the west.

By kind British messenger service Washington has been notified of the creation of an Arabian kingdom in a document signed by Abdullah, minister of foreign affairs, in the name of King Hussein, son of Ali. As the document bears no date it is unknown whether the new "Grand Sherif" was instituted before or after August 22, when Constantinople announced that the rebellion in Yemen had been suppressed and Mecca, Medina and Djidda were retaken by a Turkish expedition from Sinai.

The Arabs of that country lived by open robbery, first of the caravans on the road and then of the pilgrims in the Holy Cities, until the Reform Turks made an end of it and deprived Hussein Ben Ali of his extensive harem. Since then he has been an open rebel.

Local German's View Of European War

(Written by Louis F. Korth, former Editor of The Correspondent.)

Friday, November 17, 1916. General French, the hero of Neuve Chapelle, and Louis, now chief drill master in London, prophesies that the war will end with a rush. His successor in the field, General Haig, has started the rush to get Bapaume before the snow flies. The great "smash" on November 5-7, which did not smash anything, has been followed on Monday last by another general assault on Prince Rupprecht's northern front between Auneux and Somme from Thiepval and Grandcourt to Hebuterne, where since the initial big drive of the allies in July the Germans have been unmolested.

They were surprised at sunset by a terrific drumfire and sudden onslaught of the British, which a heavy fog had hidden from view. The enemy took all first line positions at a bound and by a curtain of fire (sperrfeuer) kept the supports in the rear from coming to the aid of their comrades, some 3000 of which after a stout resistance had to surrender.

Since the fall of Thiepval the German positions north of it had been advanced and were now taken in flank by the British heavy calibres, which in a short time razed all defenses. The British took the group of villages in the center of the line, Beaumont, Hamel, St. Pierre Divion and Beaucourt, but failed in their attack on the banks and in their purpose to turn the German lines to the northwest, reach the railroad to Arras and cut off the salient west of Bapaume. Those of General Haig's storming columns, which in their rush had passed Serre, Hebuterne and Gommecourt, were caught in the back and fearfully decimated by the German machine guns. General Haig's success consists in the straightening of his crooked northern front to the west on a length of about two miles. On Wednesday, while the battle on the Auneux was still raging, the Germans struck the French lines on the southern end of the Somme front between Chaulnes and Ablancourt a hard blow. They gained considerable ground and took Pressoire, part of which, however, was retaken. Separate allies attack on the road from Serre to Sailly, of which the Germans have regained the eastern half, at Grandcourt, L'Abbaye and Warlen Court were repulsed. The Hannoverian fusiliers took part c. the Pierre Vaast woods by storm and brought in 332 prisoners and five machine guns.

On the right bank of the Meuse French attacks on Hardaumont, just west of Doncourt, have been repulsed. All efforts of the French to regain the entire territory over which the Germans advanced from their original line to Doncourt and Vaux have been frustrated so far. The Germans are also holding on to the Damloup Voivre sector, the St. Mihiel Salient and the left bank of the river.

In upper Alsace the French renewed their attempts to advance north of Deller but were defeated.

While the Germans are on the defensive in the west, at least in the Picardie, although showing a bold front, they have given the Russian bear in the east a terrible shaking. Their victory on the Shirokova, Volynia, where the brigade of general Woyna threw a division of the Siberian guards, has been of more than local importance as the Russians were aiming at Baronivitchi, the junction point of three important roads, but were foiled. On the Narajarka, south of Lemberg, also important territory was regained and five heavy counter attacks were repulsed on Monday. In northeastern Rumania, Moldavia, the Russians have been driven back some fifty miles and the Austrians have advanced into the Trosus and Uza valley on Rumanian territory. General Koevess has cleared the Tulghes region and defeated a Russian attempt to flank him. In the Dorna Watra triangle the advance of the Russians has been stopped. They were also forced out of the Gyergie mountain district.

In Macedonia the French-Serbian allies claim success on their drive to Monastir in the Cerna river.

bend. The Bulgarians concede to them the capture of several heights, which made a change of lines necessary, but claim that all attacks in the western part of the Bend and on the plains of Monastir were repulsed. Paris says, Monastir will fall in a few days.

On the Transylvania frontier the fighting has gradually receded from the highland passes into the lower mountain country of Wallachia but Falkenhayn's advance is hindered at present by snowdrifts.

Berlin says: "The invasion of Rumania continues to make progress. The fighting along the big roads in the southwestern part of the country has ended with success for us. We captured 1800 men, 23 officers, four big guns and a number of machine guns. Our flyer squadron bombarded the fortress of Bucharest."

Vienna reports: "The fighting goes in our favor. Near the Thimn pass we took 556 prisoners."

The Overseas News Agency in recapitulating late fighting events speaks of Rumanian defeats at Kimpoling, in the Alt, Jial and Prabhova valleys, at Orsova on the Iron Gate and in the Oltuz pass, where eight different Rumanian attacks were repulsed and some 2000 prisoners taken. Falkenhayn continues his advance on the Predeal and Saurduk roads.

While we read every day of threatening Russo-Rumanian movements in or towards Mackensen's rear in Dobrudja Berlin states: "Russian columns, which were slowly advancing along the Danube against General Maeken's left wing, have been driven back and routed."

There has been considerable monitor activity on the Danube. At Gurgervo seven transports with war material were captured. By statement of a Cologne paper the booty of the Bulgarians at Constanza was 30,000 tons of petroleum, 27,000 tons of benzine, 17,000 tons of oil and enough flour, corn, rice, sugar and coffee to feed the army for several months.

In Macedonia the French-Serbian allies claim success on their drive to Monastir in the Cerna river.

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

"Germany is ready at all times to join a union of the nations to restrain a disturber of the world's peace," the German chancellor declared in a speech before a Reichstag's committee last Saturday. "Not in the shadow of Prussian militarism did the world live before the war but in the shadow of a policy of isolation which was to keep Germany down. Against this policy we wage a war of defense. England draws men and material from every part of the globe but it is predestined to fall before our will to live."

The chancellor recapitulated the diplomatic history of the war and referring to the British White Book for proof cited his despatch to Vienna two days before the declaration of war, that Austria must seek to come to an understanding with Russia else it could not count upon Germany, and his call upon London to use like pressure upon Russia.

While Vienna responded London did not, and by its silence reassured Petersburg that it could count upon England's help which prompted Russia to strike and brought on the world-war. Earl Grey did not even acquaint people, parliament and cabinet with his action and two anti-war members resigned "on account of a war being precipitated against the people's will," as one said.

An assertion of the chancellor that Russia as long as 1912 had made plans and preparations for war against Germany was supported by the publication of the text of a general order of the Russian war office in that year, which mobilization, when ordered, meant war against Germany, in the semi-official Nord-deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung.

Debates in the British House of Lords about the submarine warfare developed that there is great concern over it among the English people, more than the government dares to admit. Lord Sydenham said: "Admiral Baresford declared, a serious crisis had arisen and it was up to the lords to speak out because the press had been muzzled by the most autocratic government, which the world had seen since Pharoah's time. In the House of Commons Minister of Commerce Runciman announced that the government planned control of foodstuff production and distribution and if necessary introduction of the bread card system."

Bulgaria has acquired by conquest sovereign rights in Dobrudja and will institute a provisional military administration in its old province to be changed into a civil one after the declaration of peace. The central powers have acquired—Berlin Cable.

Rumors are current in Holland that if England is victorious it will assist Belgium in pushing its claim on Vlissingen and the Lower Shelde river up to the sea. Should General Haig not be successful on the Somme during the winter an invasion of Holland in the spring to get into the German rear is feared. Holland is preparing for it by stockpiling up in ammunition and bringing up its reserves to war strength with alternating field-drill each month for every division.

At the Entente Conference in Boulogne financial troubles were aired. The American credits are almost exhausted and the reserves have to cover current war orders. France had to take co-responsibility with England for new loans to the other allies. Russia will get what it needs for the present in the states in exchange for trade concessions but has to transfer its gold reserve of 517,000,000 rubles from London to New York. Italy has failed with a loan of 500 millions in New York and is trying to get 200 in London and Paris. Rumania has to wait until its military situation is satisfactory and it has obligated itself not to conclude a separate peace.—Zurich cable.

The French military writer Captain Philippe Milet, often quoted as an authority by the Paris press, calls on Great Britain to take over more of the western front and relieve the French. He says: "There is not a village in France, which does not expect the British to enable us to have some rest the third winter so as to prepare for an advance next year without having to exhaust ourselves." The exhaustion does not apply to France alone. England is exhausting herself on the Somme just as much as France does and the London Observer asks whether the ruinous sacrifices are worth the play.

The German progressive party by its representatives in parliament in common with the socialist labor party has declared that Belgium must remain a sovereign state and its relations to Germany be regulated by mutual consent and not by command. The party is an ardent supporter of Chancellor von Hollweg as well in this as in his conservative submarine policy. It follows Hindenburg not Tirpitz in Germany's war policy. The National Liberals and Centrists concur in the declaration but emphasize that for the safety of the empire Belgium is to be bound not to ally herself again with England and France to be used as a cats paw for the invasion of Germany as she did by her military convention with Britain in 1906.

An English account of the barbarians before the war: "And here let me say with regard to Germany that, of all England's enemies she is by far the greatest, and by greatness I mean not merely magnitude, not her mil-

"SAVINGS SAVED SAFELY"

A Modern English Cottage—By John Henry Newson

HOME OF CHARACTER No. 103

FIRST FLOOR

SECOND FLOOR

This is a typical modern English cottage, and a most delightful home for a small family. The large chimney combined with the prominent windows lends character and a sense of coziness to the home. The pleasing effect of the exterior is enhanced by the use of extra wide lap siding stained brown, with the roof in black slate.

Considering the size and cost of this home the amount of room given is extraordinary. The house is entered through a vestibule and directly in the front of the living room is a large fireplace set in a tiled nook which has a seat at each end and a row of windows extending from one side of the mantel to the corner of the vestibule, giving an elegant vista from the living room. The stairs are directly accessible from the living room as well as from the kitchen.

A porch overlooking the garden is reached through a French window from the rear of the living room. The kitchen is complete and convenient. The second floor has three large bedrooms, one of which is a child's room or a sewing room. Large closets, linen closets, storage closet and a large bathroom complete the home. This home is a splendid example of what can be done with little money by careful planning, and has been built with various modifications, all over the United States.

Variances of this design have appeared in these columns under designs 103-A, 103-B, 103-C and 103-D. Size 24x36 feet; cost $2300 as shown. Regular price of plans $25, specifications $5. Half price to all Times readers.

As a summer cottage this design could be built for about $1800. Mr. Newson will gladly answer all inquiries concerning any HOME OF CHARACTER without charge. Address John Henry Newson, "Homes of Character Dept., The Times." Always give the number of the home you ask about.

The Frost Has Sent The Leaves Tumbling The Days Are Cool--The Nights Chilly--Winter Is Coming!

While some few people like the Winter season, others shudder to think of what it has in store for them! One thing sure, and that is there will be less daylight than in Summer—the days are short, the nights are long. Hence the light question should receive due consideration at this time of the year—preparedness is the forword!

From a personal standpoint we want to say that one of the chief questions that should be uppermost in your mind is regarding light—light for the home, light for the office, light for the factory. Solve the problem quickly and correctly by installing electric service.

Electric Service is the finest, the best, the safest and most economical—no one can gainsay that, when comfort and convenience are taken into consideration.

Electricity requires no fussing or scratching around—it is always on the job, instantaneous and economical. No "fooling around" to get it ready for action. Electricity is the healthiest light on earth. It does not draw dirt—one big point in its favor. Then there is no flicker—it radiates with uniformity and is as near like sunlight as human ingenuity can devise.

You deserve the best in your home. No home is complete—it is of a truth, sadly deficient in its best and most necessary appointment when it lacks electric service.

If you own a home, you owe it to your good wife to give her what she deserves and desires—electric service, and you are under no less obligation to her if you rent a home.

Yours to serve,

ALLEGED HIDE THIEF BROUGHT BACK TO CITY

J. R. Hardman, an N. & W. detective of Columbus, arrived here from Akron Friday evening with Pete Parks, a local East End young man, for whom the Portsmouth police say they have been searching in connection with the recent wholesale stealing of hides from box cars.

Parks is one of the young men in quest of whom Police Chief Henry Clark says he visited Marion, Akron and various other cities in the state last week.

The Akron authorities picked Parks up for the chief Thursday and Detective Hardman went after him. Harve McGlothlin, who was also wanted, and who was supposed to be with Parks, was not apprehended. Parks was working as a mortician for an Akron contractor when arrested. He will be charged with stealing hides, Chief Clark said Saturday.

Parks and McGlothlin escaped arrest at the hands of the Ironton police after they had contracted with an Ironton junk dealer to accept hides they had to sell. The junk dealer had communicated with the Ironton police. Officers stationed themselves near the junk shop, but the two caught sight of them and "took to their heels." Walter Earls alone was captured. He was released on bond, only to be re-arrested upon his return to Portsmouth and along with others here was held to the grand jury.

Having shamed the officials for several weeks, George Hyslip, recently indicted before the grand jury on a charge of failure to provide, was captured at Columbus Friday by Sheriff E. W. Smith and brought to this city.

Some time ago Hyslip mailed a letter to his children from a small town in Indiana and the authorities began a systematic search for him. Later the sheriff got a tip that the man was at the Columbus insurance exchange.

Friday when Sheriff Smith took John Henry to the Ohio penitentiary to begin a life term for the murder of A. Texas, he visited the asylum and found Hyslip employed as guard over one of the wards.

Jack Williams, self-styled "human fly," performed his building climbing stunt Friday evening on the Brown building, at the corner of Third and Vernon streets, Ironton. A large crowd was out to view the performance, which was preceded by a "giving" collection, which raised $15. The "fly" had difficulty getting to the second story, but after that it was soft for him.

IS NOT A CANDIDATE

In a statement given out to the Cincinnati Enquirer Friday evening, Harry E. Taylor, editor of The Times, said that in no sense was he a candidate for the position of chief clerk of the Ohio state senate for which position his name had been mentioned in press dispatches during the past few days. It may be said further that Mr. Taylor has made no application for any position under the administration of Governor-elect Cox, for himself.

THE MATTER OF SLEEP

Thomas A. Edison was recently quoted as giving utterance to the dictum that no adult should sleep more than five hours, longer slumber makes him sluggish and inefficient.

Mr. Edison is a genius, along certain scientific lines his discoveries and inventions give world wide fame for achievement, but that does not necessarily qualify him as an expert or authority in other fields; it merely gives him a consideration to his opinions that they might not otherwise have. In this particular one he is found to be of high and low degree, and highest medical judgment physicians adverse to the common and highest medical judgment. Physicians of high and low degree, whose mission all is to heal, agree that nothing is of such recuperative effect as sleep, "sweet sleep, tired nature's balmy restorer," and that in health to maintain vigor it should be of not less than seven hours and generally of eight, duration. It is not to be supposed, though, that the profession seeks to lay down any hard and fast measurements. Needs and physique vary with each individual though there, as in all things else, there is a general average. One person requires little food and other much, as we consider the common standard; it would follow, as a law of nature, that what would be sufficient sleep for a certain individual would be altogether inadequate for another. As a rule, however, it may be taken that most people sleep too much rather than too little. A wide popular fallacy exists that "an hour's sleep before twelve is worth two afterwards," so millions hurry into bed at nine and ten and arise at 6 and 7, and even 8, gaining nothing thereby, except a craving for more sleep and the negative virtue of sluggishness in the stead of nervousness that comes of too short slumbers. If we had the regulation of the sleep of mortals there is one we would set out imperatively above all others and that is every woman should lie down for an hour immediately after the noon meal and no man should be compelled to get up before 8 o'clock. The latter, of course, to suit our individual inclination and benefit. For the writer has been "a night hawk" all his life. Even when a small boy he would pretend to retire at the same time as the rest of the family, but actually to read until the crowing of roosters warned him that "the old folks" would soon be up and stirring. For him to see bed before 12 o'clock is an event and anytime he will trade five hours sleep before that hour for three after. On an average he doesn't get any more sleep than Mr. Edison, perhaps, not as much, but he manages to maintain tolerable health, thank you. Still he doesn't urge anyone to follow his example as a worthy and wholesome one any more than he endorses that great man's opinion that the average mortal should sleep only five hours.

MIGHT HAVE KNOWN AS MUCH

With some frequency we have heard comparisons of the American farmer with his European brother that were not altogether to the former's credit, and may be we might have occasionally hinted to the same purport, but, if so, we haste to make amends and boast the American is at the head of his class and wemighthave known as much.

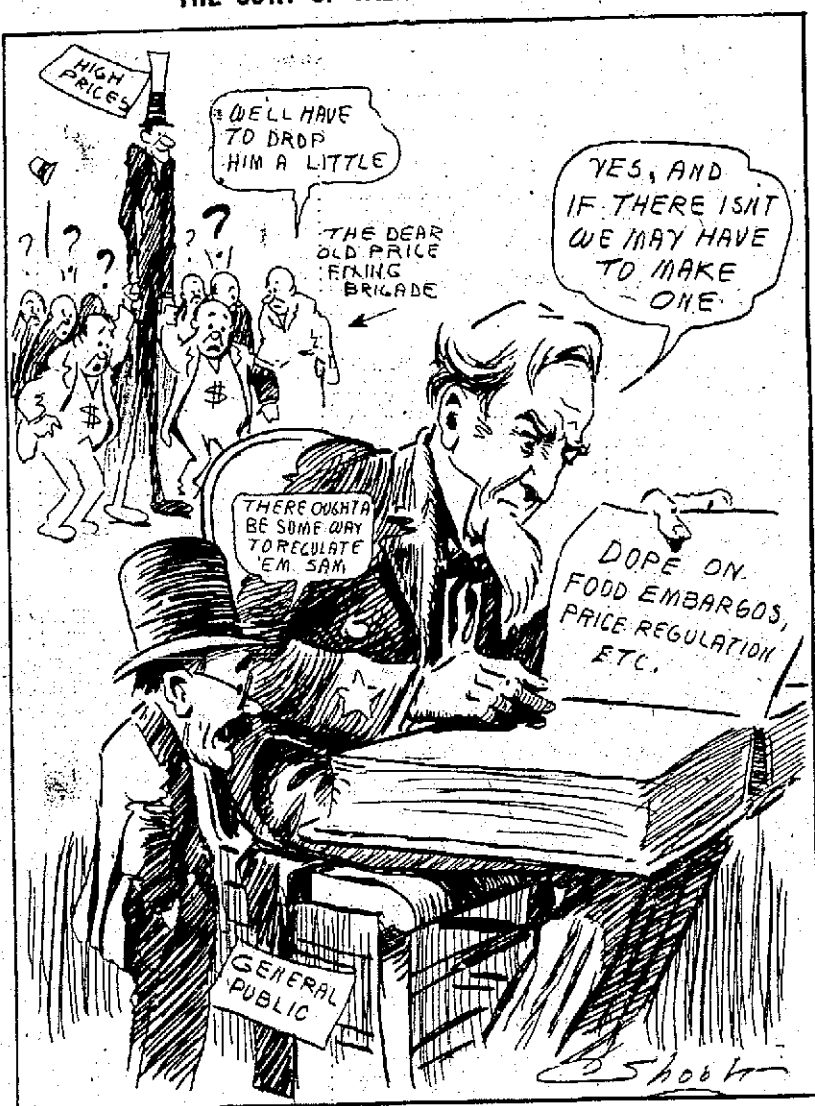

Our authority for this is none less than that distinguished agriculturalist and Missourian, Professor and Secretary Houston of the agricultural department and a bright and particular light in Wilson's cabinet. To quote his own words exact: "Already the American farmer is the most efficient farmer in the world. He does not produce more per acre, but he does produce from two to three or four times more per man, or per units of labor and capital than the European. He is more alert, uses more and better machinery and has more powerful agencies at his service than farmers of any other nation. He now masters his rivals in the field of co-operation and will more and more easily hold his own in the race for agricultural supremacy."

Now isn't that just simply grand, coming from one who knows farming of all the peoples from a practical, scientific and theoretical standpoint. Certainly you are some more prouder too you are an American, may be able to trace descent back to the farm, as most of us here in the Peerless are.

What counts it anyway if these foreign landsmen are able to raise ninety bushels of wheat on four acres worth $500 a piece, when we, with our gas propelled plows, cultivators and harvesters can sow and reap an average of twenty-five bushels on eighty acres? We are ahead in the game at that about a tenth of the tilling and mowing. Yes, sir; let us again shout, we are the people, the real people wherever you find us and in whichever way you take us and none other can show their heels to us. We are Americans and that is saying it all that need be said.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says Ohio has a number of presidential possibilities, but fails to mention any beyond Pomerene and Cox. Modestly we would like to learn one or two others that it has in its mind's eye.

THE SORT OF TALK THAT SCARES 'EM

THE OUTSTANDING FACT

We listened interestedly and even intently to the story of a merchant, who had built up a half million dollar business in an Ohio village of scarce a thousand souls, surrounded by big and accessible cities. It was a fascinating, a thrilling story. We might say it was a revelation in the possibility of human achievement. The methods and work by which this phenomenal trade was built up is instructive, but the one dominant thought in our mind through it all was: "What is going to become of this man's business when he dies?" For though altogether modest he was in claiming any particular worth in himself, it was evident enough the chief factor in this phenomenal success was the man himself. Methods and work had helped, of course, the one creative power was in the quality of the man himself. He is a prodigy born of American enterprise and activity and search the whole country over there will not be found in this age another so peculiarly fitted to peculiar conditions. Other men might see the potentialities he has seen and brought to realization, might be in a manner equal to cope with them to measuring success, but their genius would claim wider field and more ambitious reward.

An Adams county woman who is famous for the raising of fine dahlia, has named two of her finest new productions after Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. That beats naming the babies the same way.

Some of these valiant patriots that were so insistent in saving the country in peril, but failed, can now go and do the next best thing, enlist. The army and navy both need recruits, if they are to be kept within sight of "preparedness." But the campaign being over we'll not hear much about preparedness for awhile hereafter.

The Democratic national committee ought not to experience any particular difficulty in raising the $300,000 it finds itself shy in meeting campaign expenses. A party ought to readily put up that much to win, when another puts up ten times as much to lose.

After all give our good young governor credit for putting a fairly good face on it, though being the worst disappointed mortal in the state.

Sure it has been a phenomenal fall for weather—just like every other fall in the valley has been since the memory of civilized man runneth not to the contrary.

It was only the magnitude of the matter involved that made it seem so long doubtful. Had it been a coroner instead of a president the result would have been admitted that same night of the election.

They tell us they have got our old friend Mackensen on the run in Dobruja. But that name sounds Irish like and Mack is running too just like an Irishman, at the enemy and not away from him.

The Metropolitan just simply won't let Bryan alone. Again they are running him for the presidency.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Hard Boiled Egg is Broadway's latest pest. In the good old days he was the fellow who laughed the loudest at the story told by the man who was just about to buy. At the crucial moment of the yarn he would rock with laughter and shout: "Har, Har, Har, I'll take whiskey!" in the same breath. He was in short a tightwad. On Broadway now he is known as a Hard Boiled Egg. The phrase started in a theatrical cafe near Times Square. An actor referred to a friend as being as loose as ashes with his money. Another friend said with scorn in his voice: "He's as loose as a hard boiled egg," and thus a new slang phrase was given to the more or less well-known world. Up and down Broadway the Hard Boiled Egg is to be found on every side. He is generally the sleek-looking city chap with his hair generously pomaded. He is the life of the party until it is time to buy, and then he has fish-hooks in every pocket.

In fact there is one Hard Boiled Egg who scintillates nightly in a gilded ballroom and the headwaiter testifies that in all the time he has been coming there he has never spent a nickel. Once he gave a hat boy a whole penny.

At last New Yorkers can laugh at the taxicab pirates. The Black and White taxicabs have come to town. The city ordinance provides for a charge of 30 cents for the first half-mile and ten cents for each quarter of a mile thereafter. The black and white cabs go the city one better and charge 20 cents for the first half of a mile and 10 cents for each third thereafter.

It is hard to believe that any firm would charge the dear public less than the law allows, but it is being done, and furthermore you can take as many as you want in the new cars without extra charge. The cabs are neat and clean and the drivers are courteous.

The new taxis have won instant respect. They are to be seen in front of such fashionable places as the Waldorf, Plaza, Ritz, Majestic and St. Regis and Claridge. And what is more, people are patronizing them.

The low-browed, impudent chauffeur is to become extinct.

Jimmie Monaco, the song writer, has returned from a trip to Honolulu and was sufficiently inspired to write a song called "Honolulu America Loves You." He wrote it aboard his ship coming back to San Francisco.

While in Honolulu he met an American who was rushing into a drug store. Monaco stopped him and asked him what all the hurry was about.

"Well," he said, "I'm going in here to give this druggist some hush money."

"Hush money?" inquired Monaco.

"Am so graft has spread over here?"

"Graft nothing," was the retort. "I'm going to buy some soothing-syrup for my youngster."

Election night in New York was celebrated much in the same manner as New Year's eve. Nearly all of the drinking and eating places had all night licenses and the crowds came to drink, eat and dance until daylight.

About seven o'clock in the morning most of the crowds were wandering their way home. A policeman found one man in evening clothes asleep in the subway at 9 o'clock in the morning.

He shook him and told him it was time to go home. The sleeper opened his eyes and mumbled, "Rah, Rah, Rah—President" and then lapsed back into another coma.

Around the newspaper bulletins boards there were several old-fashioned fist fights.

Whatever happens, this land will hold its own and keep its stand. Whatever happens, it will swing True to purpose and the ring Of growth and progress and the High usage of the golden time.

Whatever happens, don't you fear This old land won't be bright with cheer.

"War Approaching A Decisive Stage, Decision Rests With Campaign In Transylvania & Rumania," Say Germans

(By Carl W. Ackerman, United Press Staff Correspondent) BERN, Nov. 18.—The war is approaching a decisive stage—and the decision will rest with the campaign in Transylvania and Rumania. Such is the expert military viewpoint. As summed up today by a well informed military authority, the situation is: "The triangular loss at Ancre does not affect the Somme battle as a whole. Viewing all the war theatres, the whole war has now reached a period of tension. The solution is drawing near. When this shall come depends upon the progress of the present fighting in the Rumanian passes. We are making progress there but the mountain difficulties are greater than in Serbia. Once General Falkenhayn crosses my guess is the decision will come. How long this will take we do not know—but one must depend and await coming development."

Plain Talk To Mexican Delegates Will Be Given; U. S. Tired Of Delay

Washington, D. C., Nov. 18.—Within the next few days the United States government representatives will talk plainly and forcibly to the Mexican members of the Atlantic City commission in an effort to force a satisfactory settlement in the conference which has now been on three months.

This talk will doubtless be framed on President Wilson's own views, as Secretary Lane, commission chairman, plans to see him over Sunday.

The patience of the American group has been sorely taxed by delays, the responsibility for which is placed upon the Mexican chairman, Luis Cabrera. The latter's opposition to a tentative peace plan is seriously delaying a settlement satisfactory to all his colleagues.

The administration is far from deadlocked exists and, in fact, is laying plans for early relief of the border patrol, it was learned today. The possibility of failure of the conference has never been overlooked and military plans have been made accordingly.

Allies Gain On Monastir

(Bulletin) Paris, Nov. 18.—The allied advance toward Monastir continues. The French official statement today credited the Serbian troops in this theatre of the war with capturing eight hundred meters of trenches from the Teuton defenders, and the taking of Height 1212, northwest of Iven, with bloody losses to the Bulgarians and Germans.

"HELLO" GIRLS ON STRIKE IN TOLEDO

[BULLETIN] Toledo, O., Nov. 18.—The first of the Ohio State Telephone Company's three hundred union telephone operators here went on strike shortly after 9 a. m. today. Six girls walked out on the first shift. Union leaders say it will be impossible to get the girls out except as they leave their regular shifts. The leaders say the girls will not return to their boards. All of the Union phone girls will be out by tonight, the leaders say.

Shortly after the first six girls quit, they were joined by another shift of about 15. The 20 or 25 girls stood in front of the phone company's office and they cheered as they were joined by other operators.

The strike is expected to assume larger proportions by tonight or Monday morning. In that time a meeting of the electrical workers and linemen's union will be held and a sympathetic strike vote taken.

WOMAN ON WITNESS STAND TELLS OF LOVE FOR "OTHER MAN," LOVER FACES MURDER CHARGE

INDIGNATION SWEEPS ENGLAND OVER ACTION OF GERMANS IN BELGIUM

London, Nov. 18.—England is today seeking some means of reprisal against Germany for "enslavement" of Belgium's men. Not since the execution of Miss Edith Cavell has there been such a wave of popular indignation as that which is sweeping the country over fresh details of the Teutonic plan of giving employment to the Belgian civil population by deporting them to Germany.

It is realized that with the United States rests the only hope of intervention to prevent a clean sweep from the desolated nation of all its manhood. Stories of fathers and sons separated from their wives and other loved ones by German soldiery have served to fan indignation to a fever heat. Three hundred thousand male Belgians, above the age of 17 are affected by the "employment" orders from Berlin. So far at least 45,000 of these have been transported from their homes to Germany, that they may be given German employment. The transfers are taking place at the rate of 2,000 a day. Information today received via Holland, asserts that they are given nothing and that in several instances where those pleas were more than usually forcible, German commanders ruthlessly enforced their orders and in addition imposed further burdens as an example to those who opposed the military machine.

In town of Tournai, it was declared, had been fined two hundred thousand marks ($50,000) for "arrogance without precedent" in thus opposing the employment orders.

Copies of the notice to Belgians requiring their assembly at certain concentration points for this weeding out of able-bodied workmen have been received in Holland.

Heads Of Gary Industries May Be Caught In The Probe Of Election Frauds

Gary, Ind., Nov. 18.—Election records here are in possession of Federal officials today, and several saloon keepers and a Gary lawyer are under summons to appear as witnesses before a Federal grand jury. Heads of large Gary industries may be subpoenaed shortly also.

Government agents have been probing charges of alleged fraud and election irregularities since election day under the direction of Frank C. Dailey, of Indianapolis, special prosecutor.

Seizing of election records is taken to mean that Federal authorities believe they have evidence of fraud which may involve high officials here. Charges of intimidating saloon keepers, by threatening to revoke their licenses, tampering with ballot boxes and other irregular practices have been flying between political enemies here since November 7.

Election documents, filling several trunks were taken to Indianapolis for safe keeping today.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 18.—(Officials of Lake county, Indiana arrived here this morning with several trunks full of books and papers to present the federal grand jury in its investigation of election frauds.

The grand jury has completed its routine work on criminal cases and is now ready to take up the election fraud evidence. Frank C. Dailey announced that investigation by the jury would start in earnest Monday morning.

BISHOP UPHOLDS 'UNWRITTEN LAW'

Toledo, Nov. 18.—Ministers and laymen today were discussing the address made by Bishop Frank Du Moulin of the Episcopal diocese of Toledo last night, when he upheld the "unwritten law" and advocated the whipping post for "moral lepers."

"Shooting is too good for the moral leper who dares to take from another man all that is dear in his heart. I believe faithfully in the unwritten law. No measure can be too strong in this connection," declared Bishop Du Moulin.

"Physical fear is the only method of reaching men. I would revive the old whipping post and lash the home breaker before his fellowmen," the bishop added.

Get busy, men! Don't let the fact that you are temporarily out of a job make your whole future look black. Read TIMES WANT ADS.

Georgetown, O., Nov. 18.—Before a great throng in the court room here Mrs. Ethel Wahl continued today the story of her love for Leonard Sanders, liverian, of Mount Grah, who is on trial for the alleged assassination of Henry Wahl, Mrs. Wahl's husband.

Through her the prosecution is seeking to establish its claim that Sanders killed Wahl in order to get his wife.

Mrs. Wahl added details to her remarkable confession made late Friday when she testified: "That she had been in love with Sanders for two years."

That she made arrangements for meeting him by secret notes.

That Sanders frequently called on her at her home while her husband was away.

That always when she met him, Sanders had a revolver.

The Sanders threatened to shoot Wahl if he caught them.

That an old shoe in the yard of her house was the mail box in which she and Sanders left letters for each other.

That later they placed their letters under a stone beneath her kitchen window.

That he gave her a diamond ring for Christmas last year.

That in September of last year she made arrangements to leave with Sanders but changed her mind.

That she again planned to leave with Sanders towards the last of May, 1916, a short time before Wahl was murdered, but again changed her mind.

That on the Wednesday before the killing of Wahl, Sanders wrote her a letter chiding her and saying that he didn't think she would turn him down.

"Why did you change your mind?" she was asked by O. E. Young, one of the prosecuting attorneys.

"My husband began to show me so much more affection," she replied. "He seemed to care for me more. I saw I wasn't doing right."

A Hint to the Engaged. There is an old superstition which says that engaged couples who are photographed together never get married. Superstition is gradually dying down, so that few would be kept back by an old woman's saying. There is, however, one thing which should keep engaged couples from being photographed together, and that is the thought that if either or both should marry some one else the fewer tokens there are of previous love affairs the greater is the chance of happiness in the final choice.—Exchange.

Princeton Is Favored To Win Over Yale In Annual Game

By E. C. HAMILTON
United Press Staff Correspondent.
New York, Nov. 18.—The Yale bull dog stands a fine chance of losing this afternoon at Princeton; also, the Princeton tiger is still wondering what kind of a guard he is going to use to keep the aforesaid bull dog from matching the Harvard knot in his tail with one of the New Haven brand.

It all depends upon the chewing of tail-knotting abilities of the football teams which represent Yale and Princeton.

The best leg play will be the forty-first meeting between the two rivals. Of the two score contests which have been ground into history the New Haven contingent has won its full share and has lapped over a bit. The Yale has had some mighty hard luck—or poor football teams.

Strictly from a dope standpoint Princeton is favored to win. The Tigers are better conditioned, have had the easier schedule and have the best team since the days when Sam White used to pick up footballs and humiliate Yale and Harvard with a single spritz over the chalk lines.

But it is impossible to convince a Princeton student that a link makes an annual trip just to be present at the battle between Harvard and Princeton and they believe nothing but supernatural luck will stop a Yale victory. A crowd upwards of 40,000 is expected in Palmer stadium. Weather conditions are excellent.

Yale has a backfield which stuck out all over the place when compared with Princeton's. No man like Legore graces the Orange and Black training table. Neither are there any quarterbacks with the ability of Smith at Old Nassau. The forwards are of about the same caliber, with Yale probably having the edge in defense against Rush attacks. The Eli line, however, has been proven when pitted against good forward passes and if Speedy Rush has been able to hammer that kind of football into the heads of his warriors then Yale faces a big task.

The kicking of Driggs and Tibbitt probably will play an important part in Princeton's game. Driggs, single-handed, can keep the ball in Yale territory if the Tiger line can stop the Blue charges. Legore has steadily improved as a kicker, but it's hardly probable that his boots will approach the long spirals that leave the leg of Speedy Rush's star. So if Driggs can boot near enough to the Yale goal, it is an even chance that Dave Tibbitt will be equal to the task of kicking a field goal or so.

When two of the big three teams start at each others threats the general opinion in the east is that all other football might just as well not be played. But at Cambridge today Percy Howe, a sends his charges against Brown, the eleven which humbled Yale a week ago and a game of considerable proportions is promised.

Shamrocks Play Ashland In Millbrook Sunday Afternoon

Portsmouth football fans will be given a chance to see two of the fastest football aggregations in this part of the country in battle royal Sunday afternoon at Millbrook park when the Shamrocks tackle the fast Ashland, Ky., eleven. The game will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Just a glance at the names of the players will prove to you that the local team will be the best independent team that ever appeared on Millbrook gridiron. James Lynn and Gilbert Kendall the latter a graduate of Ohio University will be in the backfield which means that Ashland will have to send a strong team against the locals if they intend to make any kind of a showing.

The following players are expected to report for practice Sunday morning at the Sixteenth street gridiron: James Lynn, Gilbert Kendall, H. Padon, R. Nutter, R. Matheva, D. Gardner, N. Sutton, R. Duvall, D. Molster, J. Shoenaker, J. Sahr, Scotty, L. Wilson, O. Montgomery, E. Shump. Every player should be out to practice.

Cubs Are Banking On "Pickles" Dillhoefer

Chicago, Nov. 18.—President Weeghman of the Cubs who, some time ago, asserted that a good catcher would go a long way to brace up the Brins, thinks he has discovered another Ray Schalk in William Dillhoefer, who was drafted from Milwaukee. The first part of his surname helps Dill, it is only natural that he is known to Milwaukee fans as "Pickles."

"Pickles" is built much along the same lines as is Schalk and his actions on the field also has a similar touch. His height is 5 feet 8, which elevates the Brewer to a slightly greater stature than Ray. He weighs 155 pounds and bats and throws right-handed. In the American Association he hit for a total of 292 and, among other things which went into the records, were nine stolen bases.

"I can hardly wait for the spring training trip to see the youngster in action," said Mr. Weeghman. "I have been told many times by good judges of ball players that 'Pickles' is a coming star. I have every reason to believe that he will be just as popular as Ray Schalk."

Purdue Will Tackle Northwestern Today

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Purdue and Northwestern will play the most important game in the Big Nine today. The Purple must win from Purdue here to face Ohio State with a clean slate next Saturday. Ohio plays Case college and the result can have no bearing on Big Nine fortunes.

But the classical scrap in the west probably will be the Michigan-Pennsylvania game at Ann Arbor. The eleven played a nothing to nothing the last year and both are pointed to win this time.

Chicago and Illinois are closely matched in their contest at Urbana. Sectional rivalry between the two Illinois schools has spurred coaches to deliver their best goods today.

Wisconsin agrees at East Lansing both promise to be hard fought contests.

Iowa plays Ames at Ames, Iowa and Indiana meets Florida college at Bloomington, both games being of minor importance though bringing out much local rivalry.

State Has Special Train To Cleveland

Columbus, Nov. 18.—A special train will carry the Ohio State team and about 300 rooters left here early this morning for Cleveland where the Case eleven will be played this afternoon.

Aside from injuries to Guard Turner and End Bolen the state eleven is in good shape. It is probable that many second string men will be used as this game has no bearing on the Western Conference championship.

PLAY BASKETBALL OUT IN THE OPEN

The Lucasville outdoor basketball team won from Pikeson Friday afternoon by a score of 8 to 4. The Lucasville players have rounded into fine shape under the coaching of Prof. Robert Meeks formerly of P. H. S. The Lucasville and Pikeson high schools do not have halls big enough to play in and have outside courts.

IT IS NO LONGER "HURRY UP YOST"

Ann Arbor, Mich. Nov. 18.—"Hurry Up" Yost, coach of the Michigan football squad, finally has failed to live up to his nickname.

Yost recently was watching the first eleven in practice. Quarterback Sparks was tearing through his signals.

"He hurries his team too much," admitted Yost, and then he told Sparks to ease up a bit.

"You can't slam down the field the way you could in the old game," said the Michigan football wizard. "With 10 yards to gain you have to take your time."

And so, the Yost nickname, won in 1900, received its first setback.

MAY ENTER REAL ESTATE GAME

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Jess Willard, the heavyweight champion, is considering entering the real estate business in Chicago, according to information received by his associates. His contract with a circus has expired and he plans to be in Chicago by the 21st. He is reported to be much heavier than when he started out with the circus. He weighs in the neighborhood of 235 pounds, it is said.

Ivories And Specials Winners At Bowling

The Ivory Knobs and Cement Specials triumphed over the Rexalls and Corn Shuckers at the Play House alleys last night. At that the defeated teams won one out of three and this was much consolation—like taking a drink of elderberry wine after a dose of castor oil. The Ivories won by four pins from the Rexalls in the first game on alleys 2 and 3 and this so enraged the Wursterites that they came back and whipped the wily out of the Knobs in the sandwich game. The Ivories pulled themselves together in the last game and, thanks to the voice encouragement of Dr. Perry Winkler Young, whose scores would not indicate he was much of a bowler.

The Cement Specials won the first two games from the Glad Hoppers with comparative ease and skill. But they reckoned without their host, for the Glad Hoppers went into a cannon ball through dead ivories in the last game and before the Specials could recover they were sent to the dump of defeat.

"P" Johnson of the Glad Hoppers was the big noise of the evening although Lon Phallon made a terrible racket in the last game. The scores:

WHY WILSON WON

California—Kansas—Ohio—Utah—Washington—Wyoming

THE LITERARY DIGEST has received many telegrams which are reprinted in the issue of November 18th. Typical examples are these two—from Kansas:

"Idealistic Kansas Voted for the Idealism It Found in Woodrow Wilson"

"It was Kansas idealism that gave Woodrow Wilson the Electoral vote. Idealistic Kansas voted for the idealism it found in Woodrow Wilson, and which, with the friendliest will in the world, it failed to find in Mr. Hughes. It rejoices in a prosperity it has never before known, but above and beyond all else, Kansas voted for Woodrow Wilson because it recognizes in him one who, in spite of all vacillation and many mistakes, yet does appreciate the fact that the American people look to something beyond mere dollars."

"We Went Democratic by Default, Because We Were Neither Hungry, Indignant, nor Scared"

"First, there was a fat, rich cushion of prosperity, and the farmer was lulled upon it; he refused to think. Second, the women voters were attracted very largely by the quavering slogan 'He kept us out of war,' they refused to think. Third, the Republican state managers could not believe there was any real danger; they refused to think—or worry. So we went Democratic by default, because we were neither hungry, indignant, nor scared. In Kansas, it was not a victory but a symptom. It does not mean the rejuvenation of Kansas Democracy, but the fatty degeneration of the Kansas spirit."

The issue of THE LITERARY DIGEST for November 18th is a particularly striking and interesting number containing such other informing features as:

The Princeton team was much better equipped with offensive weapons than in any previous game this year or in any game for that matter in the past four years. This is likely to be emphasized against Yale Saturday."

It may be said further that Mr. Taylor has made no application for any position under the administration of Governor-elect Cox; for himself.

THE MATTER OF SLEEP

Thomas A. Edison was recently quoted as giving utterance to the dictum that no adult should sleep more than five hours, longer slumber makes him sluggish and inefficient.

Mr. Edison is a genius, along certain scientific lines his discoveries and inventions give world-wide fame for achievement, but that does not necessarily qualify him as an expert or authority in other fields; it merely gives him a consideration to his opinions that they might not otherwise have. In this particular one he is found adverse to the common and highest medical judgment. Physicians of high and low degree, whose mission all is to heal, agree that nothing is of such recuperative effect as sleep, "sweet sleep, tired nature's balmy restorer," and that in health to maintain vigor it should be of not less than seven hours and generally of eight, duration. It is not to be suppressed, though, that the profession seeks to lay down any hard and fast measurements. Needs and physique vary with each individual though there, as in all things else, there is a general average. One person requires little food and other much, as we consider the common standard; it would follow, as a law of nature, that what would be sufficient sleep for a certain individual would be altogether inadequate for another. As a rule, however, it may be taken that most people sleep too much rather than too little. A wide popular fallacy exists that "an hour's sleep before twelve is worth two afterwards," so millions hurry into bed at nine and ten and arise at 6 and 7, and even 8, gaining nothing thereby, except a craving for more sleep and the negative virtue of sluggishness in the stead of nervousness that comes of too short slumbers. If we had the regulation of the sleep of mortals there is one we would set out imperatively above all others and that is every woman should lie down for an hour immediately after the noon meal and no man should be compelled to get up before 8 o'clock. The latter, of course, to suit our individual inclination and benefit. For the writer has been "a night hawk" all his life. Even when a small boy he would pretend to retire at the same time as the rest of the family, but actually to read until the crowing of roosters warned him that "the old folks" would soon be up and stirring. For him to see bed before 12 o'clock is an event and anytime he will trade five hours sleep before that hour for three after. On an average he doesn't get any more sleep than Mr. Edison, perhaps, not as much, but he manages to maintain tolerable health, thank you. Still he doesn't urge anyone to follow his example as a worthy and wholesome one any more than he endorses that great man's opinion that the average mortal should sleep only five hours.

MIGHT HAVE KNOWN AS MUCH

With some frequency we have heard comparisons of the American farmer with his European brother that were not altogether to the former's credit, and may be we might have occasionally hinted to the same purport, but, if so, we have to make amends and boast the American is at the head of his class and well-nigh known as much.

Our authority for this is none less than that distinguished agriculturalist and Missourian, Professor and Secretary Houston of the agricultural department and a bright and particular light in Wilson's cabinet. To quote his own words exact: "Already the American farmer is the most efficient farmer in the world. He does not produce more per acre, but he does produce from two to three or four times more per man, or per unit of labor and capital than the European. He is more alert, uses more and better machinery and has more powerful agencies at his service than farmers of any other nation. He now masters his rivals in the field of co-operation and will more and more easily hold his own in the race for agricultural supremacy."

Now isn't that just simply grand, coming from one who knows farming of all the peoples from a practical, scientific and theoretical standpoint. Certainly, you are some more prouder too you are an American, may be able to trace descent back to the farm, as most of us here in the Peerless are.

What counts it anyway if these foreign landmen are able to raise ninety bushels of wheat on four acres worth $500 a piece, when we, with our gas propelled plows, cultivators and harvesters can sow and reap an average of twenty-five bushels on eighty acres? We are ahead in the game at that about a tenth of the toiling and moiling. Yes, sir; let us again shout, we are the people, the real people wherever you find us and in whichever way you take us and none other can show their heels to us. We are Americans and that is saying it all that need be said.

The Cincinnati Enquirer says Ohio has a number of presidential possibilities, but fails to mention any beyond Pomerene and Cox. Modestly we would like to learn one or two others that it has in its mind's eye.

THE SORT OF TALK THAT SCARES 'EM

THE OUTSTANDING FACT

We listened interestedly and even intently to the story of a merchant, who had built up a half million dollar business in an Ohio village of scarce a thousand souls, surrounded by big and accessible cities. It was a fascinating, a thrilling story. We might say it was a revelation in the possibility of human achievement. The methods and work by which this phenomenal trade was built up is instructive, but the one dominant thought in our mind through it all was: "What is going to become of this man's business when he dies?" For though altogether modest he was in claiming any particular worth in himself, it was evident enough the chief factor in this phenomenal success was the man himself. Methods and work had helped, of course, the one creative power was in the quality of the man himself. He is a prodigy born of American enterprise and activity and search the whole country over there will not be found in this age another so peculiarly fitted to peculiar conditions. Other men might see the potentialities he has seen and brought to realization, might be in a manner equal to cope with them to measuring success, but their genius would claim wider field and more ambitious reward.

An Adams county woman, who is famous for the raising of fine dahlias, has named two of her finest new productions after Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. That beats naming the babies the same way.

Some of these valiant patriots that were so insistent in saving the country in peril, but failed, can now go and do the next best thing, enlist. The army and navy both need recruits, if they are to be kept within sight of "preparedness." But the campaign being over we'll not hear much about preparedness for awhile hereafter.

The Democratic national committee ought not to experience any particular difficulty in raising the $300,000 it finds itself shy in meeting campaign expenses. A party ought to readily put up that much to win, when another puts up ten times as much to lose.

After all give our good young governor credit for putting a fairly good face on it, though being the worst disappointed mortal in the state.

Sure it has been a phenomenal fall for weather—just like every other fall in the valley has been since the memory of civilized man runneth not to the contrary.

It was only the magnitude of the matter involved that made it seem so long doubtful. Had it been a coroner instead of a president the result would have been admitted that same night of the election.

They tell us they have got our old friend MacKenzie on the run in Dobrudja. But that name sounds Irish like and Mack is running too just like an Irishman, at the enemy and not away from him.

The Metropolitan just simply won't let Bryan alone. Again they are running him for the presidency.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 18.—The Hard Boiled Egg is Broadway's latest post. In the good old days he was the fellow who laughed the loudest at the story told by the man who was just about to buy. At the crucial moment of the yarn he would rock with laughter and shout: "Har, Har, Har, I'll take whiskey" in the same breath. He was in short a tightwad. On Broadway now he is known as a Hard Boiled Egg. The phrase started in a theatrical cafe near Times Square. An actor referred to a friend as being as loose as ashes with his money. Another friend said with scorn in his voice: "He's as loose as a hard boiled egg," and thus a new slang phrase was given to the more or less well-known world.

Up and down Broadway the Hard Boiled Egg is to be found on every side. He is generally the sleek-looking city chap with his hair generously pomaded. He is the life of the party until it is time to buy, and then he has fish-bones in every pocket.

In fact there is one Hard Boiled Egg who scintillates nightly in a gigged dazant and the handwritter testifies that in all the time he has been coming there he has never spent a nickel. Once he gave a hat boy a whole penny.

At last New Yorkers can laugh at the taxicab pirates. The Black and White taxicabs have come to town. The city ordinance provides for a charge of 30 cents for the first half-mile and ten cents for each quarter of a mile thereafter. The black and white cabs go the city one better and charge 20 cents for the first-half of a mile and 10 cents for each third thereafter.

It is hard to believe that any firm would charge the dear public less than the law allows, but it is being done, and furthermore you can take as many as you want in the new cars without extra charge. The cabs are neat and clean and the drivers are courteous.

The new taxis have won instant respect. They are to be seen in front of such fashionable places as the Waldorf, Plaza, Ritz, Majestic and St. Regis and Claridge. And what is more, people are patronizing them.

The low-browed, impudent chauffeur is to become extinct.

Jimmie Monaco, the song writer, has returned from a trip to Honolulu and was sufficiently inspired to write a song called "Honolulu America Loves You." He wrote it aboard his ship coming back to San Francisco.

While in Honolulu he met an American who was rushing into a drug store. Monaco stopped him and asked him what all the hurry was about.

"Well," he said, "I'm going in here to give this druggist some hush money."

"Hush money?" inquired Monaco. "Am so graft has spread over here?"

"Graft nothing," was the retort. "I'm going to buy some nothing-syrup for my youngster."

Election night in New York was celebrated much in the same manner as New Year's eve. Nearly all of the drinking and eating places had all night licenses and the crowds came to drink, eat and dance until daylight.

About seven o'clock in the morning most of the crowds were wending their way home. A policeman found one man in evening clothes asleep in the subway at 9 o'clock in the morning.

He shook him and told him it was time to go home. The sleeper opened his eyes and mumbled, "Rah, Rah, Rah—President!" and then lapsed back into another coma.

Around the newspaper bulletins there were several old-fashioned fist fights.

Doc Koko's Column

Whatever happens, this land will hold its own and keep its stand. Whatever happens, it will swing true to purpose and the ring of growth and progress and the prime High usage of the golden time.

Whatever happens, don't you fear. This old land won't be bright with cheer.

Whatever happens, it will keep its onward course toward the steep. And climbing slowly to the day Break through the clouds that bar its way.

Whatever happens, this old land will give three cheers and clap its hand.

And taking breath for one more spring Go onward to the higher thing For which the fathers, true as gold, strove in the mighty days of old.

Whatever happens—let 'em fight. The old land always comes out right; The saving common sense of men Brings back the balanced power again.

And out of chaos and of night The old land turns up sound and right.

Whatever happens—let 'em split; This old land will not wince a bit. But greater than all weakness shown By party strife, comes to her own Through an unconscious human will That helps her keep the right road still.
